   This charge was complete 9/07. Barbara Warner agreed to serve as recording secretary and Vickie Melograno agreed to upload the minutes. All have been uploaded with exception of the unapproved minutes of April. There was no meeting in January 2008 because of bad weather. The committee members had continued working independently on their assigned part of the faculty handbook.

2. Review these charges to be sure that (1) the recommended charges of the previous year were addressed, (2) minutes of all meetings conducted in the previous year were submitted online to http://venus.atlantic.edu/facultyassembly/minutes/upload (username - *; password – *), (3) all normal standing charges are included, (4) the charges listed are correct, still valid and properly placed, (5) charges that were completed aren’t repeated and (6) the charges are clear. 5. Submit recommendations for next year’s charges to the Senior Dean of Academic Affairs, Dean of Instruction and the Chair of the FAEC.

See page 9 of this report.

Additional Charges

6. Develop and complete a faculty handbook on assessment by spring 2008 with the assistance of the Outcomes Assessment Coordinator.

This has been on going and will be completed in the Fall semester. Committee members have been assigned certain sections to work on. See page 32 for the most recent draft of a table of contents and the committee members assigned to those sections.

7. Continue to coordinate planning efforts with the Senior Dean of Academic Affairs to sponsor an “Assessment Day” or Professional Development Day including speakers, Best Practices Presentations and recognizing faculty members or Departments for outstanding achievements in assessment.

8. Continue to develop a culture of assessment by contributing “The Assessment Tip of the Month” to the Communicator beginning in Fall 2007. This can be the topic of assessment at monthly department meetings.

The committee created a bank of assessment tips which were periodically sent to Kathy McGowan for publication in The Communicator. The assessment tips were also published in the adjunct faculty newsletter put out by Avon Chapman.

9. Continue collaboration with the Outcomes Assessment Coordinator including input on assessment forms and process as faculty representatives.

Marilyn Keiner had developed a summary page for the four-form system in an attempt to make more clear to the college community the purpose for each of the forms. See page 33 for this document.

Subsequently, the committee, upon feedback from various department chairs, has decided to streamline the four-form system to a single form that would be submitted each semester. The first part would be completed the first semester. A copy would be sent to the director of Academic Program Effectiveness, and the chair would retain the original to complete the second part the following semester. See page 34 for a draft of the form that the committee will continue to work on.
10. Sponsor a workshop for the benefit of new faculty concerning the Assessment Plan, the assessment process and assessment terminology.

Cheryl Knowles-Harrigan, Amy Shelton, and Vickie Melograno presented a workshop for new faculty at the 11/30/07 meeting.

11. Review and amend the Assessment Plan that was submitted as a draft to Middle States, as necessary.

12. Review Faculty Assembly bylaws, particularly regarding the existence and function of your committee, and submit recommendations for revision to the FAEC Chair electronically (sdephili@atlantic.edu) by October 26, 2007.

The committee reviewed the bylaws and made minor changes which were then forwarded to Jim Taggart and uploaded to the website.

Other notes:
1. The director of Academic Program Effectiveness had money to send two committee members to the Middle States sponsored “Student Learning Assessment Institute” held at the University of Delaware. Two volunteers Michael Kammer and Amy Shelton attended. See attached starting on page 42 for information, notes, and power point presentations about the workshops held there. Both Michael and Amy strongly suggest that each year, funding permitting, at least two different faculty members attend the institute to help sustain the culture and enthusiasm for assessment at ACCC.

2. A voluntary committee meeting was held on May 29th 2008 1:00-2:00 to further discuss the revision of the four-form system to a single form. See page 34 for the latest draft that committee members will continue to work on. The meeting was attended by all members who were able to attend.

3. In October of 2007, Dr. Art Wexler selected committee member Marilyn Keiner, who had two years experience as chair of the Assessment Committee, to represent the committee as interviewee with Middle States representative Dr. Ruth E. Andes, Assistant Dean, Assessment and Special Projects, Genesee Community College. Here is a summary of the meeting from Marilyn:

“Please find below and attached a note from Dr. Andes, the Middle States rep who interviewed me last week about assessment. We discussed our three semester process, as well as the history creating the process, etc.

We also discussed what her College does and she has now forwarded the information to Art and myself. If the attachments do not forward, let me know. I will print out and forward through interoffice mail.

E-Mail Exchanges

The following e-mail exchanges contain some good ideas, references, and explanations; thus the reason of their inclusion in this report. (Notes from Michael Kammer are in parenthesis to help with clarification.)

Amy Shelton to Dorothea, Mkammer
I am compiling the MATH assessments and putting them all on one Form #2. It will take me a couple of more days to gather all the information from the other faculty. Sorry for the delay.

Also, our department will discuss ways to assess our programs other than the program review we already do. The folks I have spoken to would like to think about it and come up with something besides the same four forms condensed to one form. I think it might be a good idea to throw it out to the chairs to have them discuss possible ways to review programs with their individual departments. Then the assessment committee rep in the department can bring the ideas back to the committee for discussion.
Just my thoughts,
Amy

Dorothea Dunayer to Mkammer regarding the Assessment Institute Amy Shelton and Michael Kammer attended

May 21
Hi Mike-
Glad you enjoyed the conference. I saw Amy and she told me how much you both liked it. I would like to send more faculty. I think that is a good idea. There is another conference in September in Philadelphia also that I want to look in to.

Hey Dottie!
Amy and I had an excellent time at the assessment institute. We have a lot to share with you and the committee. I have the paperwork on the way to you.
Do you think we could send 2 people every year to this institute? We could include nominating 2 people as a charge for next year. I think it would go a long way for continuing to develop a culture of assessment and to keep us connected with Middle States.
Thanks,
Michael

From: Michael Kammer to committee May 1

I figured you would rather have one e-mail rather than separate ones.

1. Status quo! We are still doing the four-form system this semester. We need to be scoring this Spring semester's assessment and filling out form 2. Here is the summary of form 2: Assessment Form #2 is a reporting form for faculty after assessment is administered to the students. This form will assist faculty in analyzing the results of the assessment in terms of student learning and how those results will be used to improve teaching and learning. The completed form will be returned by June 1 directly to the Department Chair and in turn to the Director of Academic Program Effectiveness and Dual Enrollment Services. A copy of same should be retained on file by the Department Chair.

2. As we spoke in the meeting, you'll be getting a draft of a document (if you don't have a copy already) that the committee is considering turning into a single form (thus addressing departmental concerns about our current 4-form system.) We will be meeting one more time (see item #3 below) to work on the form. Possibly, this single form would have two parts, the first part to be filled out in the fall semester, and then in the Spring semester the form would be returned to have the second part filled out.

3. As agreed at the last meeting, we will have an extra assessment committee meeting on graduation day, between the noon validation lunch and the graduation ceremony. Exact time and room TBA. We will be working on the form. If you like, you can send me feedback ahead of the meeting that I can compile and bring with me.

4. Friday (tomorrow) I will be sending a draft of suggestions for next semester's charges. Please check over and give me suggestions for changes.

5. Attached is the committee membership. Barbara and I have declared our interest in staying on the committee another year. The following members' term also is scheduled to expire this year: Marilyn, Vickie, and Cheryl. Please let me know by next week if you are moving on as scheduled or if you would like to stay on for another year. I am assuming that all other members are staying on as scheduled.
(From Cheryl Knowles-Harrigan that includes a couple of ideas for the Faculty Assessment Handbook)  February 27

Michael,
An update: I have asked Dottie Dunayer to provide some learning outcomes for the faculty handbook on Gen. Ed., and Career Programs. I think these would be best left very generic - I think we talked about this.

And, I think it would be exceptionally beneficial to add the program review template to the handbook so faculty have it at their fingertips.

Cheryl

(From the new Dir., Institutional Planning and Assessment Luis Montefusco introducing his new role)  February 27th

Michael, Good Morning!

I was recently appointed by the College's Board, Director of Institutional Planning and Assessment, and part of my duties are to support the College's Departments in aligning their assessment efforts and initiatives to ACCC's Strategic and Institutional Effectiveness Plan. Additionally, while we fill the position of Director of Institutional Research, I am also taking care some of these duties.

Taking this into account, I will continue with my participation in the Assessment Committee in the Advisory Membership in place of the Outcomes Assessment Coordinator and the Director of Institutional Research.

Please let me know next meeting's date and time to set up my schedule.

Regards,

Luis E. Montefusco

Sue,

Because of the questionable afternoon weather forecasted, I had e-mailed the Assessment Committee members notice to change the meeting to next Thursday (a 5th free Thursday of the month). Since then, I have been reminded that we have the emergency Faculty Assembly meeting, which means our committee will not be convening this month. Our committee members have each been assigned parts of the Assessment Faculty Handbook to work on independently, so going without our first meeting this semester will not hurt the progress of our charges. Now with all this trouble I've caused, watch it not snow one single flake.

Thanks,

Michael
Committee members,
Please continue to e-mail me any updates to your sections of the handbook. I will post an updated contents page with the status of each section the first week of February.

Thanks,
Michael

Mike, thanks for keeping me updated -- all sounds appropriate and good. Whatever announcement/committee report you want to go before faculty at the Jan 31 faculty assembly meeting, just email it to Donna V asap for inclusion in the handout. Thanks! Sue

General Information about Assessment

Assessment is a continuous, systematic process that includes:
- developing appropriate assessment tools,
- accumulating and analyzing data,
- making decisions based on data analysis,
- taking action on those decisions, and
- determining whether those actions have improved teaching effectiveness.

In a Nutshell…

Assessment is about IMPROVING STUDENT LEARNING.

The underlying goal of student outcomes assessment is the enhancement of learning.
Background History

- Middle States mandate resulting from a 2001 Periodic Review Report required ACCC to develop a comprehensive Outcomes Assessment Plan by October 2003

Response

- Professional Development Workshops on Assessment Presented on Multiple Occasions
- Assessment Committee created to develop Plan and became the liaison to faculty. On a departmental basis, faculty participated in the review, update, and/or creation of department/program/course goals and objectives.

Input received from all departments resulted in an inventory of “core” competencies (indicators of essential knowledge/skill proficiency on a course by course, program by program and department by department levels.) Detailed analysis determined commonalities of course competencies found within each department and were aligned with program or general education goals. There was a direct relationship between these competencies and the ACCC’s mission standards.

Purpose: assess student learning and assess the process, with emphasis on the latter.

- With input from each discipline, Assessment Committee developed a universal rubric.
- Core competency assessed in Pilots and subsequent student learning assessments covered critical thinking.
- Assessment exercises were administered during the past four spring semesters, results were compiled and following an analysis by each discipline/faculty member, changes to the assessment instruments and/or instructional strategies and/or course/program were considered and/or implemented.
The Assessment Plan

- Part I: Introduction
- Part II: Overview of General Education
- Part III: Description of Career Programs
- Part IV: Details of Implementation
- Part V: Evaluation Plan
- Part VI: Appendix

General Education Core Competencies

As a result of research and input from faculty through the Assessment Committee, the following General Education Competencies were selected: communication skills, mathematical skills, critical thinking skills, information literacy skills, computer literacy skills and ethics.
The Assessment Process

Introduction:
• Each assessment focuses on one or two teaching goals that are predetermined within each discipline. Depending on the dictates of each department, each faculty member determine the assessment technique or activity. The results of the assessment are evaluated and if applicable, modification(s) to curricula and/or instruction is/are made.
• There are three phases of assessment.

Three Phases of Assessment

Phase I: PLANNING Classroom Assessment Activities (Fall Semester)
• Each discipline will select the class or group of classes to focus on and plan the assessment in concert with other faculty teaching the same course.
• Each discipline will select, adapt or design the assessment techniques that will be used for obtaining feedback appropriate to teaching goal(s). All preparations for assessment should be made this semester.

Phase II: IMPLEMENTING the assessment activity (Spring Semester)
- Teach the target unit related to the teaching goal(s).
- Administer the assessment activity.
- Analyze student feedback concerning course specific goal and related behavioral outcomes by using the discipline specific rubric to assess student work. The method of analysis will depend on the assessment activity used. Some disciplines may require faculty within the discipline or department to take part in the analysis, while others may use external stakeholders or advisory committees to assist in analysis.

Phase III: REFLECTING AND REACTING to Feedback from the Assessment Activity (following fall semester)
- Interpret and evaluate the results and impact of the assessment on teaching, student learning and/or curricula. Make modifications, if needed.
Forms Relating to Phase II and Phase III Assessment Process

Phase II
“Report for Learning Outcomes Assessment”
This form is completed by the faculty member responsible for administering the assessment activity. Information gathered include basic procedural information and conclusions reached concerning the improvement of teaching and learning.

Phase III
“Faculty Review of Student Assessment from Previous Semester”
This form is completed by faculty members to be discussed at department meetings as a tool for reflection and the exchange of ideas concerning conclusions made from the previous semester’s assessment activity.

Explanation of Four Forms written by Marilyn Keiner

Note: As of the end the academic year 07-08, the committee is leaning towards streamlining the four forms into a single form.

Assessment Form #1 is the first step in the process of student learning assessment. It is simply used to record the course that faculty will be assessing, the type of assessment tool to be used and when the assessment will be administered. This form is completed by Department Chairs at the beginning of the semester in which the assessment will take place. The completed form will be returned directly to the Director of Academic Program Effectiveness and Dual Enrollment Services. A copy of same should be retained on file by the Department Chair.

Assessment Form #2 is a reporting form for faculty after assessment is administered to the students. This form will assist faculty in analyzing the results of the assessment in terms of student learning and how those results will be used to improve teaching and learning. The completed form will be returned by June 1 directly to the Department Chair and in turn to the Director of Academic Program Effectiveness and Dual Enrollment Services. A copy of same should be retained on file by the Department Chair.

Assessment Form #3 is a summary form used for the assessment exercises administered in a Department. Each Chair has the option to fill out the form alone or with the assistance of the faculty member or members participating in the assessment exercise.

Completing Assessment Form #3:
- The first two columns of this form is from Assessment Form #1 or The Assessment Organization Form.
- The third column or Significant Findings is made up of information from Form #2 or the Report for Learning Outcomes Assessment. The analysis should include, but not limited to, the number of faculty and student participants, etc. It should also state and identify weakness and strengths in skill levels (percentages are acceptable) and any analysis information about the assessment as it relates to the department, program or course.
- The last column entitled, Use of Results, is from the information on Form #2. This column will provide a starting point for reflection at the beginning of the following semester using Assessment Form #4, the Feedback Form.

The completed form will be returned by the end of the first week in June to the Director of Academic Program Effectiveness and Dual Enrollment Services. A copy of same should be retained on file by the Department Chair.

Assessment Form #4 is a tool for reviewing the results of student assessment administered the previous semester. Each department chair will distribute this form to faculty members for review and completion during the first month of classes. Faculty answers will be discussed at a department meeting during or before the third department meeting of the semester. Faculty will have the benefit of exchanging ideas among themselves that involve procedure and substance of the assessments. Department Chairs are to summarize the discussion for each area on this form and send same to the Director of Academic Program Effectiveness and Dual Enrollment Services by the end of the semester.

Information about the Assessment process at SUNY

As forwarded to ACCC from Dr. Ruth E. Andes, Assistant Dean, Assessment and Special Projects, Genesee Community College.

The following 6 pages are referred to in the section of this report entitled “Report/Update on Committee Charges for 2007-2008” page 8 under “Other Notes” #3.

Here is the e-mail from Dr. Andes that accompanied the 4 attachments on the subsequent pages:

Hi,
Here are some examples of what we have done in course-level assessment. The first one is an old one that was too cumbersome but it does spell out the 'thinking' that has to go into the process. The second one is how data are now reported (all of this is also electronic into a database) and the third one is the timetable for all the courses ----- there is a separate one for GenEd because we have to report those to SUNY on a set schedule.

Faculty members have to set their course student learning outcomes and then identify which outcome they are going to collect data on for assessment purposes. Some courses have to do more than one but many just have to assess one of the student learning outcomes (see the last attachment which is the revised SOC 101 slo’s ---- different from the one used in the first example above which came from a much earlier semester).

The third is the assessment timetable where faculty --- especially those in programs such as paralegal --- have to identify how each course will be assessed (on what schedule).

If you have questions, let me know. I have a couple of other things but this is the basic structure of our course level assessment process.

Take care.
Ruth

Course Number/Section: SOC 101-00

Course Title: Introductory Sociology

Please state the Course Student Learning Outcome that was assessed:

SUNY Learning Outcome: Students will demonstrate knowledge of major concepts, models, and issues of at least one discipline in the social sciences.

Course-level Learning Outcome: Apply at least one of the three major theoretical perspectives (functionalism, conflict, and symbolic interaction) to a selected social issue, identifying how the perspective provides a different view of the social issue.

I. Describe how the assessment was conducted:

Students submitted a paper according to specific directions after selecting a social issue from a list provided. The paper was graded by a grading sheet that identified the required paper content and format/citation.

II. What was the benchmark and was the benchmark attained? ☐ Yes ☐ No

The benchmark is that 70% of students who complete the paper assignment will earn at least 70%. Benchmark was attained.

III. Attainment

Knowledge and Skill Area: Social Sciences

Subject Area: Sociology

Course Number: 101

SUNY General Education Objective Addressed:
Knowledge of major concepts, models and issues of at least one discipline in the social sciences.

Course Student Learning Outcome:
Students will be able to apply the three major theoretical perspectives to a selected social issue, showing how each perspective provides a different view of the social issue, by writing a 5 – 7 page paper utilizing a minimum of three correctly cited references (APA) while scoring a minimum of 65 points on the Application Paper Assessment Grading Sheet.

Objective Being Assessed: # 2 from SOC 101 Course Outline

Assessment Methodology:
Grade papers using the grading sheet and retain copy for analysis.

Time Frame:
Fall 2004

Data To Be Collected:
Grading sheets for all sections of SOC 101.

Benchmark Standards:
70% of students enrolled in SOC 101 (who finish the semester) will score at least 65 points on the assignment, using the grading sheet for scoring.
Evaluation Summary:

Only 62.5% of the students scored a 65 or better. The areas where students experienced the most difficulty were the Review of the Literature and the Conclusions sections.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Attainment: Was the benchmark attained (yes or no)?</th>
<th>No</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Recommendations (corrective actions to be taken):

- Incorporate more in-class discussion/exercises on applying the three theoretical perspectives.
- Work with colleagues to revise the assignment directions and the grading sheet.
- Work with an English professor to produce a model of the paper, especially emphasizing a well prepared Review of the Literature.

Resolution (Restatement of Learning Outcome and New Benchmark if needed):

No change in learning outcome or benchmark. Re-analyze at conclusion of semester after implementing recommendations.

Attach the course outline and any analysis materials (rubrics, data summaries etc.)

SOC 101 (6/12/07): Upon successful completion of the course, as documented by exams, papers, discussion, group projects, and application exercises, the student will be able to:

1. Demonstrate the ability to analyze the link between individual circumstances and the broader social context by using the major concepts, models, and theories of sociology (functionalism, conflict, and symbolic interaction).*

2. Identify a minimum of four types of research methodologies (survey, experiment, content/secondary analysis, ethnography, etc.) as well as the basic elements contained within the scientific method.*

3. Analyze the impact of the following elements of culture on the daily lives of all members of society: material/non-material culture; social structure, values, norms, and laws; subcultures; cultural diversity; ethnocentrism and cultural relativism; culture change and culture lag.

4. Apply the key elements within the process of socialization (for example, agents of socialization, development of self-concept, nature/nurture, socialization across the lifespan, etc.) to their own lives, with particular emphasis on the theories of Mead and Cooley.

5. Apply the components of role theory to the ways people relate to each other within society (achieved/ascribed statuses, master status, role conflict, role strain, secondary versus primary group relationships, reference groups, and the relationship of roles to the social structure).

6. Compare and contrast a minimum of two theories of deviance to a current example of deviant behavior in society.

7. Identify a social movement, analyze the elements of collective behavior evident in that social movement, and describe the impact of the social movement on social change within society.

8. Identify a minimum of three ideal attributes of the American stratification system, and then compare and contrast those attributes in regard to the reality of the American stratification system, identifying five personal characteristics that are class-linked.

9. Contrast the nature of prejudice and discrimination, and apply theories of prejudice to individual-level and societal outcomes of discrimination against minorities (such as racial/ethnic groups, women, the elderly, differences in sexual orientation, etc.).

10. Analyze one of the following major societal institutions (family, education, religion, polity, media, technology, and health and medicine) in terms of its manifest and latent functions, and then describe how a major social force in society today will impact social interaction within this institution in the future.
* This course objective has been identified as a student learning outcome that must be formally assessed as part of the College’s Comprehensive Assessment Plan. All faculty teaching this course must collect the required data (see Assessing Student Learning Outcomes form) and submit the required analysis and documentation at the conclusion of the semester to the Office of Assessment and Special Projects.
